

Broken: rock, paper, scissors

Point of view:

Imagine that each character writes a short summary of the story. Their perspective of the events will vary. How will each character see and explain things differently?

A large, empty yellow rectangular box with rounded corners and a blue border, intended for the rock character's point of view summary.

A large, empty yellow rectangular box with rounded corners and a blue border, intended for the paper character's point of view summary.

A large, empty yellow rectangular box with rounded corners and a blue border, intended for the scissors character's point of view summary.

