Try as many activities as you like!

Find a pebble and paint a pretty picture on it. It could even represent an animal or object. You may like to leave this somewhere for someone else to find. It would cheer them up for the day.	Research the history of May Day. Why this begin, what was it for and what traditions happen on this day?	Design your own May Day dance.	Make your own musical instruments out of junk to play at your May Day celebration.
Create a new game to play with your family. Create a board or gather some equipment, make up the rules and play.	Head out for a nature walk. Do you know the names of any of the trees or flowers?	Complete a detailed sketch of one of the flowers or trees you find on your nature walk.	Make your own lunch – any maybe for your family too.
Make yourself a new hat for tomorrow's Wear a Hat day. You could even make a spare for a friend.	Write a letter to a friend or family member. Send them your love and thoughts.	Practise learning your address including your postcode. Can you spell your middle name and your last name correctly?	Spend some time in the fresh air. Take time to enjoy the sights, smells and sounds of this wonderful season.
Practise your times tables. You could use TTRS to earn yourself some blues.	Read somewhere interesting. You could even take a photo of yourself and email it to your teacher so your class can see.	Tell your family all about the history you have learned this week. Can you find out anymore facts to share with your class tomorrow?	Teach yourself or someone else in your family a new skill. Maybe juggling? Or cartwheeling? The choices are endless.
