

Home Learning Grid

Can you design a new red nose for Comic Relief? Is it going to be a character, an animal or an object? What is it going to be made of?	Could you be a teacher? Think about something you have learnt recently? Can you design a lesson to teach it to a member of your family? Can you create an activity for them to complete?	Can you write a menu? What would you have on your ideal day? How will you make sure you eat a balanced diet?	Can you bake a cake or some cookies for red nose day at school? Don't forget to bring them with you tomorrow?
Spend some time looking at the clouds. Can you see any shapes in them? Draw what you can see.	Design a new toy. Think about what you enjoy playing with. What could you make that other children might also want to play with? What will it be made of?	Find an unusual place to read your book. Can someone take a picture of you reading in an unusual place?	Can you make or do something nice for someone special in your life? Can you make someone a drink, do a job for them, make them a card to say thank you?
Practise you design a game to test your number bonds or times tables? What will the rules be? What are the instructions?	Can you write an adventure story? Who will be your main character? Where will it be set? How will you set the scene? What will be the problem in the story? How will it be resolved? How will your story end?	Can you find out about a famous building or structure? When was it built? Where is it? What is it used for? What was it used for in the past? Can you draw a picture of it and label it?	Can you draw a detailed sketch of a family member or a pet? How can you make their features look accurate? How can you show light and shade?
Can you find out one way in which Comic Relief or another charity of your choice has helped someone or a group of people? What could you do to help a charity? Which charity would you choose?	Can you write and sing your own song? What would it be about? Are you going to use a melody you already know or create your own? How will you structure your song? Will it have verses and a chorus?	Can you record a weather forecast? You could write a forecast for a day we have experienced recently or imagine what the weather might be like? Can you make and use any symbols to show during your wseather forecast? s	Can you create a poster or advert convincing people to look after the environment? Can you use persuasive language? What information or facts will you include? How can you make them listen?